I saw a sample project for Bitmap.setPixel in Adobe website. In it there is 2 class classes. One class is view, Another one is activity. But there is no any coding in activity class. When i only make change in view class, then when i run in emulator my application crashes. Why is that.. Please Explain. A: The reason is that you are trying to create a bitmap from UI thread. The Android documentation also says: Threads in Android can be roughly divided into four different categories, each with its own purpose and characteristics. System Threads Worker Threads Main Thread UI Thread For your case you are trying to access UI thread from non UI thread. You need to use the work arounds like as the given in this link: public static Bitmap createBitmapFromLocations(BitmapFactory.Options options) { Bitmap map = Bitmap.createBitmap(options); map.setDensity(600); for (int x = 0; x The 6-month-old babies were born at the Queens CHOMH at Elm
